

Seeking Freelance Therapists – Facilitator Training

Khulisa are a small award-winning, cutting edge charity, providing wellbeing programmes for groups of vulnerable young people – in schools, communities and prisons.

Our programmes are experiential and creative, (art, drama, storytelling, debating, role play). Underpinned by a therapeutic process, our programmes help participants to reduce violent behaviour and improve emotional resilience.

We are seeking to recruit freelance therapists to facilitate our programmes, specifically those who have

- Experience of delivering experiential group sessions with young people aged 11-25
- Experience of working with complex needs and ACES
- Ability to create / hold safe spaces (manage emotions / conflict / triggers)
- Therapeutic qualification (dramatherapy, TA, family therapy preferred)
- Strong communication skills (empathic listening, incisive questioning, assertive)
- Inclusive facilitative approach (willing to participate/role model activities, some personal disclosure, sharing authentic self)

We're seeking applications from those who can deliver in London and / or Manchester.

Our flagship group programme Training runs 22nd – 24th March 2022 in Central London. We reimburse participant trainees £150 per day. Supervision is available once facilitation with young people is underway.

You can find full details of what we do on our website:
www.khulisa.co.uk

Contact us now: thalia@khulisa.co.uk to arrange an informal chat or to provide a CV and covering letter (indicating what interests you about Khulisa and makes you a good fit for us).